The Tucson Society of the AIA invites you to join us for a most stimulating program of events as the season warms up. We have a lively range of speakers this spring, as well as a dramatized reading of a new translation of Aristophanes' Women at the Thesmophoria, a play first produced in 411 BCE. All AIA members, friends and guests are warmly welcomed to the illustrated lectures and also encouraged to loiter for the tasty morsels and lively archaeological chit-chat at the receptions following each presentation. For those coming from off campus, the closest parking garage for the Harvill Building is the one on Second Street, between Mountain and Highland, located in close proximity to the Student Union. For updates on lectures, locations and AIA membership, please contact Alison Futrell at 520-626-8428 or via email at afutrell@u.arizona.edu. For more information about your local AIA, and photos of the Tucson Society's reconstructed ancient Greek kiln in action, visit our website at <http://aiatucson.arizona.edu/>. Many thanks to the AIA and the Departments of History and Classics for their sponsorship.
